The British Embassy showed every sign yesterday of genuine rejoicing for the birthday anniversary of King George. In the absence of the Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce in Australia, Mr. Mitchell James, the counselor and charge d'affaires, entertained at dinner last evening and at a large reception at 10 o'clock. The dinner company was a small one and distinctly British, but for the reception there were about 400 guests. Mrs. Grant, wife of Capt. H. S. Grant, the new military attaché of the embassy, acted as hostess and did the honors of the embassy. The dinner guests included Mr. John Joseph Broderick, second vice consul of New York; Mr. Gilbert Grandin, British consul at Baltimore; Mr. Hugh Alexander Ford, vice consul at Philadelphia; Bishop Courtney, of the British School and University Club of New York; Dr. McPherson of the Canadian Society of New York; Mr. Hugh Black Rowland, British vice consul in this city; Mr. and Mrs. A. Gordon Cumming, the Second Secretary of the Embassy; and Mr. G. Sowerby, naval attaché of the embassy; Lord Eustice Percy, of the embassy staff, and Mr. A. Maurice Low. The usual decorations and spring flowers and British flags were used profusely. A section of the Marine Band played throughout the evening, and the dancing element of the guests enjoyed dancing in the ballroom. Mrs. Grant, a very recent addition to the diplomatic circle, was charming in a gown of heliotrope satin and chiffon. The beautiful old garden on the west side of the embassy was open and lighted, and many people enjoyed the moonlight and strolls of music as they floated out from the brightly lighted ballroom.

Helps on Care of the Hair and Skin

The subtle charm and elegance so noticeable in brilliant, fluffy hair is possible for every woman to have and enjoy if she will but shampoo occasionally with a canthox mixture, made by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthox in a cup of hot water. This creates a wealth of rich, white lather that cleanses thoroughly and completely. The stimulating effect of this shampoo on the scalp will encourage a bountiful growth of beautiful hair.

Women who safeguard their beauty do not use powder or greasy creams, because of their injurious effect upon the skin. Instead, a spumax lotion is used. This is made by dissolving a ounce of spumax in a pint of water (or hot water) and adding a teaspoonful of glycerine. The spumax lotion protects the skin and gives to the complexion a rare charm and elegance. To rough, oily, faded skin it lends a velvety smoothness and exquisite tint.

Rumors that the fire had been started by transport strikers were circulated today, and the local authorities ordered a complete investigation. The magnificent interior of the vessel is a wreck to-day. It will probably take four months to repair it.
